Heavy Rate of Interest for Money—The Ocean Bank Robbery—Return of Cuban Expeditionists, &c., &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 30, 1869.

During the past two days late borrowers, in order to make their accounts at bank, have been forced to pay as high as one half per cent. interest for the use of funds over night. Yesterday the demand continued till after four o'clock, some of the banks having to remain open to accommodate customers who were tardy in making up their balances. The interest paid for one day was at the rate of one hundred and eighty per cent. per annum.

In regard to the Ocean Bank robbery, several new items, which are apparently of little importance, have been made known. An old and practical mechanic has examined the kit of instruments left by the burglars, and says only one or two of them has been recently used. The stem of the auger found was only twenty-two inches in length, while the holes bored in the floor are twenty-four inches deep. The real mystery of the whole affair lies in the manner in which the combination lock was opened, and it is suggested that the door may not have been locked.

Captain Evan R. Jones, of Milwaukee, United States Consul to New-Castle-upon Tyne, was entertained last evening at dinner by a number of his friends, all Welsh Americans.

Lieutenant Commander Wm. H. Van Wick, of the United States Navy, died last evening of yellow fever, on board the hospital steamer Illinois.

Several of the Cuban expeditionists have returned to this city, reporting that they had been on steam tugs in Long Island Sound waiting to be put on the steamer Catharine Whitney, which was seized, having run short of provisions. Two of the tugs put into New London for food and water, when some deserted and came back to this city. They state that two steam tug loads of expeditionists were put on a steamer on Sunday night, and it is supposed they got off safely to sea.

The Cuban expedition has ignominiously failed, the tug boats Cool, Mabil and Chase having been captured in Long Island Sound by the Revenue cutters McCulloch and Campbell. The Chase was seized off Gardener's Island, and the others within fifteen miles of Fort Schuyler, while on their return to New York in disgust. All the vessels were brought to the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The Cool had one hundred and fifteen men, the Mabil two hundred and fifty, and the Chase seventy-five on board. Among those on the Cool were Senor Alfero and Dr. Bassora, of the Cuban Junta. The men were almost exhausted from hunger and cold, having been without food since Sunday, and exposed on open decks to the storms of several days Col. Byron and Gen. Spear, and their respective commands, were not captured, and are supposed to be scattered about Long Island or on the Connecticut shore. The prisoners are now receiving Government rations on the receiving ship Vermont. They denounce the leaders heartily.

Col. Ryan has escaped, or is in disguise among the prisoners.

Property mysteriously returned into the hands of the police by the Ocean Bank burglars proves to be $142,950 in railroad bonds and miscellaneous securities, and nearly $200,000 in bank checks, payment of which had been stopped. No government bonds were returned.

Colonel Ryan, who was really one of the captured fillibusters, escaped to-day before the party were transported to safe quarters,

Tornado at Memphis.

[By telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, June 30.—A tornado passed over the city at four o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by hail and rain, demolishing signs, awnings, and uprooting shade trees. The Virginia, lying at the wharf, had her chimnies blown down, breaking in her roof, and a great portion carried some two hundred yards up the levee and over the top of one of the highest blocks in the city. No lives were lost as far as known, but it is feared the destruction of property and crops has been very heavy.

The storm this afternoon unroofed and otherwise injured some twenty buildings in various portions of the city and blew down chimnies. A lady with three men it is reported were drowned while crossing the river in a skiff.

The Indiana Appropriation Bill—Attorney General's Decision Sustained.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 30.—Chief Justice Frazer delivered the opinion of the Supreme Court this afternoon, on the legality of the specific appropriation bill passed at the last session of the Legislature. The decision sustains the opinion of the Attorney General, recently delivered on the constitutionality of the law. The Court say they cannot go behind the record of the Legislature, which does not show that there was less than a quorum present when the bill was passed. The Court did not consider it proper or necessary at this time to discuss the question.

LANCASTER, June 30.—A terrible accident occurred in the iron works of D. D. Thomas & Co., in this city, yesterday. While some workmen were engaged in removing the lining from the furnace, a portion of the structure fell, carrying with it the scaffolding on which the men were standing. One, a German named John Schlerith, was instantly killed, and two others were injured in such a manner as to render their recovery very doubtful. It is rumored that Schlerith fell into the furnace and was instantly burnt up.

Irish Church Disestablishment Bill Considered in the House of Lords—Treatment of Fenian Prisoners—Resignations in the Reform League—News from Paraguay—Great Battle in China Between Mohommedans and Imperialists—The Laying of the French Cable Progressing Finely.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 30.—Last evening the House of Lords went into Committee on the Irish Church bill and discussed it almost the entire session.

The Earl of Derby opened in a long speech, defending the Irish Catholics from the charge of indifference to the question of disestablishment. He affirmed the Irish regarded it as an act of justice.

Earl Grey moved to amend the preamble in some slight particulars.

Earl Granville opposed the proposition for concurrent endowment, and considered it altogether impracticable.

The Bishop of Oxford regarded the question of disestablishment already fixed. He thought, however, no portion of the funds ought to be secularized. After providing for the church, the religious necessities of other bodies ought to be aided.

The Marquis of Salisbury supported the principle of concurrent endowment in a long speech.

After a long discussion, Earl Grey withdrew his opposition, and the consideration of the preamble was postponed.

Earl Carnaghan moved the substitution of the words "one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two," in the thirteenth clause, in place of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, as the date of the disestablishment of the Irish Church.

Much discussion ensued, and at length the Lords divided and the amendment was carried, as follows: For, one hundred and thirty; against, seventy-four.

The clauses from numbers two to twelve, inclusive, were then agreed to without discussion.

In the House of Commons last night Mr. Moore called attention to the treatment of Fenian prisoners, and moved resolutions that the Government ought to institute public inquiry into the subject of the penal discipline, and reclassification of prisoners, to inquire how far political prisoners should be regarded as a separate class, and to consider how far the severity of past punishment may be regarded as reasonable ground for favorable consideration of their case. Mr. Moore said he believed a majority of the Irish people sympathized with the Fenians, though unwilling to subvert the existing government, and were content to bear their own present ills rather than to fly to others they know not of; but no class was contented with the present state of affairs. He strongly condemned the harsh treatment of Fenians, both before and after trial, and urged public inquiry thereinto.

Mr. Bruce, the Home Secrvtary was not prepared to defend the treatment of the Fenians, but said in general the law was insufficient to deal with political prisoners. The statements of cruelty were, however, exaggerated. At present their treatment was extremely lenient. They were separated from the other prisoners and not compelled to do anything degrading or submit to any humiliation.

Mr. Sullivan defended the conduct of the present government respecting Fenianism, and accused Mr. Moore of endeavoring to make political capital by pandering to the passions of those who have been convicted. He hoped the time will soon have arrived when such discussions shall cease and no political prisoners remain in custody.

On a division the first part of the resolution was lost by 31 to 171

Mr. Maguire said it was impossible to press the latter part, as the former portion had been negatived. He admitted the general sympathy of the Irish with Fenianism, but thought no harm would result if the Government extended clemency, and released the prisoners now in custody.

The latter part of the motion was negatived, and the House adjourned at forty minutes past two this morning.

LONDON, June 30.—The Times, commenting on the debate in the House of Commons last night, says: The main consideration of the Government is the effect which the release of the Fenian prisoners will have. It must be remembered that all those who were guilty in an inferior degree have been set free. Only the prime movers, or active agents, remain, all of whom have been sentenced to long periods of imprisonment, of which a small portion only has elapsed. The misery brought upon individuals and society, and the check to the prosperity of Ireland, which they had caused, forbid their release, if justice requires satisfaction. The men who planned, and in some cases executed, murder, cannot be set free, while others, whose offenses are as nothing in comparison, drudge on. The distinction between political and other offenses cannot be admitted in the case of men who, with insufficient cause and no prospect of success, carried out their designs with butchery and cruelty. Murder was not less murder, when accompanied by treason. There was nothing connected with the murders committed or attempted by the Fenians which should give the perpetrators the dignity of insurgents.

John Bright and Wm. C. Forster have resigned their membership in the Reform Club, in conseqnence of the failure of the Committee to elect as an honorary member a gentleman whose name they had proposed.

In the Commons to-night, Mr. Bruce, alluding to the demonstrations expected in Ireland on the 12th of July, said party processions were always provocative of disturbance, and ought to be prevented. The Government was determined to enforce the law against them and prevent any breach of the peace.

Serious Affray at Martin's Ferry.

The Wheeling Intelligencer of yefterday says: A very unfortunate affair occurred at Rainey's coal works, about a mile and a half above Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Monday evening, in which one man was shot.

The facts of the case are these: Three men, Fred Schell, Jim Perry and Wm. Sturgeon, after having got drunk, went to the house of Jacob Solliday, (who is foreman at the coal works), Schell going in at the back door, while Sturgeon entered by the front way, followed closely by Perry. Solliday and his wife were eating their supper. When Sturgeon went in he told Solliday that he had come to whip him and that he was able to do it. Solliday told him that he did not doubt that he could. Sturgeon then struck Solliday two or three times, knocking him off his chair. He then picked up one and while in the act of striking him with it Solliday's wife caught the chair and prevented him from using it. Sturgeon caught hold of her clothes and tore the most of them off before she relinquished her grasp, after which he made another start with it for Solliday, when he, (Solliday), acting in self defence, drew his revolver and shot Sturgeon. the ball taking effect in the side and passing through into his body, where it yet remains. He was not long in finding out that he was wounded, and said to Mrs. Solliday, "my God, I'm shot; I've done wrong; I had no business to come here." By this time his friends had run out of danger where they waited for Sturgeon, who walked away from the house a great deal more sober than when he went to it. His friends took him to his boarding house and cared for him until medical assistance could be called in. Dr. West of Martin's Ferry was sent for and pronounced the wound a very dangerous one. Mrs. Solliday went to see him during the evening, and was denied admission by the family with whom he boards; but when Sturgeon heard she was there he told the family to let her come in, as he wanted her to stay with him, and do whatever she could for him, as no one but himself was in fault.

Perry and others of his associates swore they would kill Solliday before morning. On hearing this he went to Martin's Ferry and entered complaint against them. A constable was sent and brought the parties to the lock-up where they will be tried.

Solliday gave himself up to the proper authorities, and told them that he was ready to give bond for his appearance, but as yet nothing has been done with him.

Sturgeon was at work in the stone quarry above Martin's Ferry. He is from Pittsburgh. At last accounts he was in a critical condition.

Senatorial Conferees.

The Republican Conferees from Washington and Beaver counties, appointed for the purpose of placing in nomination three Legislative and one Senatorial candidate for that district, met Tuesday at the St. Charles Hotel, where they organized, and after balloting until late in the afternoon adjourned to meet at the Monongahela House yesterday at two o'clock

The following gentlemen comprise the Conference: Washington—Captain W. H. Horn, Dr. J. McCabe and J. Hernish, Esq. Beaver—Dr. D. McKinny, J. R. Harrah, Esq., and Capt. M. R. Adams.

The candidates for Senator are Mr. L. A. McCracken, of Washington, and Mr. J. S. Rutan, of Beaver county.

Pursuant to adjournment the Conferees met at ten o'clock yesterday and succeeded in the selection of two candidates for Assembly, one from Washington and one from Beaver, after which they adjourned to meet at ten A. M. this morning. The nominees are Dr. W. C. Snerlock, of Beaver, and A. J. Buffington, of Washington. We learn that the conferees were in session last night at the St. Charles Hotel, but, so far as we could ascertain, had arrived at no conclusion as to the remaining candidates.

NOTHING AT ALL IN THE PAPER TO-DAY.

Nothing at all in the paper to-day!
Only a murder somewhere or other—
A girl who has put her child away,
Not being wife as well as mother.
Or a drunken husband beating a wife
With the neighbors lying awake to listen;
Scarce aware he has taken a life
Till in at the window the dawn rays glisten
But that is all in the regular way—
There's nothing at all in the paper to-day.

Nothing at all in the paper to-day!
To be sure there's a woman died of starvation,
Fell down in the streets—as so many may
In this very prosperous Christian nation.
Or two young girls with some inward grief,
Maddened, have plunged in the inky waters,
Or a father has learned that his son's a thief—
Or a mother been robbed of one of her daughters.
Things that occur in the regular way—
There's nothing at all in the paper to-day.

There's nothing at all in the paper to-day,
Unless you care about things in the city—
How great rich rogues for their crimes must pay
(Though all gentility cries out "pity!")
Like the meanest shop boy that robs a till—
There's a case to-day if I'm not forgetting,
The lad only "borrowed" as such lads will—
To pay some money he lost in betting.
But there's nothing in this that's out of the way—
There's nothing at all in the paper to-day.

Nothing at all in the paper to-day
But the births and bankruptcies, deaths and marriages,
But life's events in the old survey,
With Virtue begging, and Vice in carriages;
And kindly hearts under ermine gowns,
And wicked breasts under hodden gray,
For goodness belongs not only to clowns,
And o'er others than lords does sin bear sway.
But what do I read?—"drowned! wrecked!"
Did I say
There was nothing at all in the paper to-day?

—The Czar, hearing that Gen. Grant has become President and that he would like to have peace, has sent him one, a handsome piece of artillery embossed with the names of all the President's victories in the late rebellion. Hereabouts such a present would seem to be rather a warlike one, but we must remember that in Europe when a country is most busily engaged in preparing for war its ruler invariably assures the world that no idea, separated from the profoundest condition of peace, occupies his mind.

—A Spanish rumor states that the ex-Queen Isabella's son and heir, the Prince of Asturias, is about to contract a marriage with the Princess Beatrice, of England, a fact which pleases the ex-Queen so much that she will resign her claims on the throne in favor of the young couple, and that England will then restore Gibralter to Spain on condition that that nation acknowledge the young bride and groom as their rightful sovereigns. Besides these they will cultivate the bamboo esculents which ought to be a welcome addition to our list of vegetables, as they are said to have a taste something between those of the artichoke and asparagus.

DEAF MUTES.—The School Committee of Boston has decided to open next September, in that city, a day school for deaf mutes, and has given notice to applicants for admission to send in their papers. Children from four years of age and upwards, not regarding the limits of fifteen years, can be admitted. The privileges of the school will also be allowed to children in the neighboring cities and towns upon the payment of the simple cost of tuition, which, it is estimated, will amount to $100 per annum for each pupil. In case of the pecuniary inability of the parent or guardian, the tuition money will be paid by the State, upon the proper representation of the facts. This plan apears to be a judicious one, since it furnishes instruction to deaf mutes who either cannot be admitted into the regular institutions for this class, on account of want of accommodations, or whose parents desire to retain them at home.

THE Baltimore Sun, with what authority we know not, publishes the following concerning the political contest in Tennessee: The Administration having been forced to take sides in the political contest now going on in Tennessee, has declared in favor of Stokes for Governor as against Senter. Stokes has made a strong appeal to have the Federal patronage in the State thrown in his favor. The President has reponded favorably. All Federal office-holders in Tennessee will be expected to aid Stokes, or suffer the consequences. Senator Brownlow's course in opposing Gen. Grant in the Senate, and in taking sides with Senter, has neutralized whatever influence he had with the Administration. Hereafter Stokes will be regarded by the President as the leader of the party in Tennessee.

THE Rev. Rowland Hill used to ride to and from church in a carriage. This gave offence to one of his members at least, who went so far as to hand in, among the notices, one requesting "the prayers of this congregation for the pastor, who, yielding to pride, is in the habit of riding in his carriage, not content, like his Divine Master, to ride upon an ass." It was not until Mr. Hill had read the paper, and observed the sensation created, that he noticed its import; and then laying it down he said: "It is true, brethren, I ride in my carriage; but if the author of this notice will appear at the door at the conclusion of the services, saddled and bridled, I will do my best to ride him home."

A WASHINGTON dispatch says: It is apparent to close observers that England is watching with great interest our movements in enforcing the laws against Cubans, having, as they do, such an important bearing upon her course in not enforcing the neutrality laws during the late rebellion.

The Gettysburg Monument.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Times writes from Gettysburg of the Soldiers' National Nonument:

The monument now approaching completion and to be dedicated on the 1st of July, is the most imposing memento of the civil war anywhere in the country, and will not be finished at a cost of less than $50,000, although the original estimate was but $25,000. It is from designs by J. G. Batterson, of Hartford, Conn., who also furnished the clay models of the statuary, which were worked out in marble at Rome, by Rudolph Rogers. The superstructure is sixty feet high, consisting of a massive pedestal, twenty-five feet square at the base, and the die and cap crowned with a three-quarter globe, on which stands a colossal statue of the Genius of Liberty, holding in her right hand the victor's wreath of laurel, and clasping with the left a sheathed sword. Projecting from the angles of the pedestal are four buttresses, supporting the same number of allegorical statues, representing War, History, Peace and Plenty. War is personified by an American soldier, who, resting from the conflict, relates to History the story of the battle the monument commemorates, while History, with stylus and tablet, is chiseled as recording the achievements of the field. Peace is symbolized by a statue of a cog-wheel, hammer and chisel, while Plenty is represented by a female figure with a sheaf of wheat and fruits, as emblematic of peace and abundance as the soldier's crowning triumph. The buttresses on which these statues—which are all colossal—are seated, have the sides ornamented with bas-reliefs in unison with the idea embodied in the statue. The upper die and cap of the monument are circular, and on the die is a circlet of bronze stars, made up of one for each State having dead in the cemetery. The cornice and plinth above the main die of the pedestal are octagonal and heavily moulded, and on the plinth rests an octagonal moulded base, bearing upon its face the national arms in high relief. The panel of the main die, on the west side, between the statues, has engraved on it:

GETTYSBURG,
July 1, 2, 3,
1863.

While the corresponding panel on the opposite side has the following from Lincoln's dedicatory address: "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work that they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause which they here gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the Government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—Lincoln, Nov. 19, 1863.

The monument itself is executed in granite and the five statues in marble, so that when completed it will have the same general effect as the cemetery in which it stands. But it is not yet finished, nor will it be by Thursday next, for Peace and Plenty have not yet arrived from Italy, and of the materials now on the ground only the pedestal with the buttresses and the statues of War and History have been put in place. Mr. Wills, however, is sanguine that, except the two non-arrived statues, all will be finished in time for the final ceremonies, and as he is giving his personal attention to the work, there is reason to believe that he will not be disappointed. It is impossible, of course, to indulge in any minute criticism of the monument in its present unfinished state, but it can be said that in the expression of eager recital thrown into the face of War, and in the absorbed listening aspect and attitude of History, the sculptor has commendably worked out the idea of the designer. It is lamentable, however, that the marble of both these statues has been badly disfigured during the passage across the ocean, in consequence of gross carelessness of package and stowage, and, unsightly as they now appear, it is feared that some of the stains can never be wholly eradicated.

A Submarine Steamship.

Accounts of a new plan for building war vessels are given in the German papers. Otto Vogel proposes to construct a submarine steamship, and the Berlin Borsenzeitung asserts that the Prussian admiralty has approved of the plans submitted for inspection. The vessel, covered with strong plating, is entirely below the surface of the sea, with the exception of the deck, which is surmounted by a vaulted iron roof of immense strength. Beneath this covering heavy guns are placed, so that the whole greatly resembles a first-rate iron clad. It is said, however, that besides all the advantages of such men-of-war, the new ship may be entirely submerged, and in this position is so completely under command that it can outweather a storm or attack an enemy with submarine cannon and torpedoes. Mr. Vogel is now engaged in constructing a large model, twenty-four feet in length, which will soon be finished.

THE Washington Reporter says: We understand that the friends of Jefferson College are about to present a bill in equity before the Supreme Court of this State, and will ask that the "Board of Trustees of Washington and Jefferson College" be restrained from removing the College classes and the College property from Canonsburg. They are represented, as we are informed, by James Veech and George Shiras, Jr., Esq'rs., of the Pittsburgh bar, and Boyd Crumrine, Esq., of the Washington bar.

A MAN in Orange, Ionia county, Mich., stored a quantity of maple sugar in the chamber of his house this spring. The honey-bees of a neighbor have been drawing from this store for material for honey, entering through the chinks between the logs. It has been found impossible to dislodge the intruders, who have actually driven the family from the house on several occasions. The sugar does not seem to agree with the plunderers, however, as many of them die on reaching their hives.

ON Saturday last, as two lads, about twelve years of age, whose names are not given, were playing on Licking Creek, near Zanesville, they saw the body of a boy floating down stream, and, swimming out to it, they brought it to shore. As the body was still warm, they made use of the proper means, and succeeded, unaided, in effecting the resuscitation of the boy, who in the course of an hour, was able to walk to his home, a little distant.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

PENN'A CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, WEDNESDAY, June 30, 1869.

CATTLE.

The arrivals of cattle thus far this week have been comparatively light, and with an improved demand the market, if anything, is stronger than last week, that is buyers took hold with less hesitation, while prices have undergone no notable change. There was one lot of fancy cattle at 8, but as will be seen by reference to the sales, the great proportion of the operations were at prices ranging from 6½@7½, and the average price for the week would probably be between 6¾ and 7. As was the case last week, the most of the cattle were of a medium grade, and prime to extra shipping steers were in light supply. New York buyers took hold more freely this week, and there was also a good many Philadelphia buyers in attendance, and it is probable that they too will pitch in pretty freely within the next day or two, though in no event is it probable that there will be any advance in prices this week.

RIVER NEWS.

The river, under the influence of the recent heavy rains, continues to swell steadily, with eight feet six inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. Weather cloudy and unsettled, with frequent showers. Mercury at 5 P. M. 80.

The Argosy, from Cincinnati, is the only transient arrival we have to report. The Kenton from Portsmouth and Wild Duck from St. Louis are due to-day.

The Waunanita, Capt. C. A. Dravo, did not get off for St. Louis yesterday, as expected, but will positively go to-day. She will be followed by the Glendale, Capt. Hare.

The huge Ajax departed yesterday—her tow will probably be made up below the Steubenville Bridge.

—Following two boats departed yesterday with coal for new Orleans. Ajax with 145,000 bushels, Dick Fulton. 175,000. For Cincinnati, Clipper 70,000; Whale 70,000; Leopard. 70,000, Coal Valley, 70,000; Reindeer, 90,000. For Louisville, Hyena, with 60,000. Grand Total 750,000 bushels.

As there is at this writing every prospect of more water, it is possible that there will be additional departures to-morrow.

—The R. C. Gray, Pittsburgh to St. Louis, passed Cincinnati on Monday.

—Mr. J. L. Opentander, a well-known steamboat owner, was, on Saturday, united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Lizzie Patton, at St. Louis, and left on the Minnie for Omaha.

—About one o'clock last Monday morning, while the steamer Richmond was about opposite Napoleon, going down, an affray occurred between three colored hands on the lower deck, in which one of them named Williams killed another named Bienvew. All of the parties were from New Orleans, and the murdered man's body was taken to that city and delivered to his relatives. Williams was immediately placed under guard, but manged to escape the night of the murder.

—A Louisville special to the Cincinnati Commercial says: Towboats Eagle, Arrow, Panther, Blackmore and Lake Erie arrived. The rest of the fleet will be in during the night. The Star and A. J. Baker are due from below, and the Sam Brown has arrived at the foot of the falls. They will take tows South. The other boats return from here.

—Mr. William List of the Hudson, was recently thrown from a buggy in Wheeling, and sustained injuries which have since confined him to his room. Mr. D. K. List is in charge of the office in his absence.

—We clip the following from a late St. Louis paper: Yesterday the Olive Branch was sold for $20.000 to D. B. Powell & Co. We learn the statement that Capt. B. K. Pergram will command her is not correct, as that gentlman has abandoned the business. The Pauline Carroll was sold to Capt. Ed. Dix, Theodore Laveille and others, for $25,000. Although some remark that these prices are all they are worth, the steamers named bave certainly gone off at a very low figure. Henceforth the A. and M. S. S. Co., will go down gradually into oblivion, The steamers once owned by the company will live some years yet, but they too, will, of course, vanish and be forgotten. Not counting the Magenta, which will, when convenient, return to the N. O. and Vicksburg trade, there are engaged in the St. Louis and N. O. trade, or getting ready for it, 12 steamers, viz: the Pauline Carroll, W. R. Arthur, Continental, Olive Branch, Lady Gay, Thompson Dean, Great Republic, Commonwealth, Mississippi, Bismark, Lizzie Gill and Mollie Able.

—The Jennie Brown was sold on Monday, by Com. Jas. Rees, to Capt. W. H. Price, of Rock Island, price $3,000. She will be employed in towing stone for the new Rock Island bridge. The Jennie was built at Louisvill, by the Government, for an express boat on Missouri River, and is said to be fast.

—The Natchez Democrat of Tuesday says: We learn that Capt. Goddin, the popular commander of the Wild Wagoner, has purchased the steamer Dexter, and will put her in the Natchez trade with the Wild Wagoner when the cotton season opens. Capt. Goddin's enterprise deserves success, and his perseverance is bound to obtain it without measure.

—The New Orleans Times of the 24th says: The Richmond brought in an immense trip, one item being 1,211 hhds of of tobacco. This, we believe, is the largest consignmeat of tobacco that has ever reached this wharf by one steamer.

—The Louisville Courier of Monday says: The Raven, from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, with 3 barges of iron ore and 8 empty barges, stuck hard and fast on the rocks opposite the foot of Fifth street yesterday. When we left the wharf the Petrel No. 2 was trying to pull her off. The Neville was going down when the Raven grounded, and narrowly escaped being crowded out on the rocks.

THE Democracy of Erie county are for PACKER.

THE public debt was reduced about ten millions during the month just passed.

OUR Minister to Spain takes JOHN HAY, Esq., for his Secretary of Legation, vice PERRY, recalled.

THE Virginia election is expected to result in the adoption of the new Constitution almost unanimously, and in the very decisive rejection of the test-oath and disfranchisement clauses.

THE Legislature of Georgia convenes in extra session on Wednesday next, when some notice will be taken of the late decision of their Supreme Court establishing the right of colored men to hold office. The session will be a stormy one, and with results of the highest moment to the welfare of the State. The rebels talk of impeaching GOV. BULLOCK, but what will they do with the Judges? It is not impossible that wiser counsels may finally prevail, and that Georgia will concede much, to the authority of her own Supreme tribunal of law, which might otherwise be exacted under the Federal obligations which she has so long contemned.

A CONTRACT has been closed between the combined lines representing the Central or Pennsylvania trunk-line of railway, and the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw road, by which the railway unity is perfected to the Mississippi at Keokuk. More than that, it is also determined to put the road through thence to the Missouri River, over what is known as the Southern Iowa route.

This Central line has completely distanced its competitors. It is the only trunk-line which has absolutely secured its own Western termini at Cincinnati, Chicago and the Mississippi, reaching those points over routes shorter than are practicable for its rivals. The next steps will be to Chattanooga, in the Southwest, and Omaha, on the Pacific line—and these steps will be certainties within the next twelve month.

THE impression widely prevails among business men that all "politicians"—that is, all men who take special interest or part in public affairs, are thieves and plunderers. A day or two ago, the New York Tribune published an authentic statement of all the income returns made in that city for the last year; and concludes that "at least two-thirds of the individual returns are lower than they should be." But our cotemporary does not stop there, but goes on to declare that "we believe the incomes of this city are more fairly returned than those of any other million of our forty millions of people. In our judgment, the total paid into the Treasury as income tax is not more than one-third what the law calls for. The impost levied on honesty is all but prohibitory."

That there are many corrupt and corrupting "politicians," is a lamentable fact; but ratably to numbers, taking either personal experience or official data, there are full as many bad men engaged exclusively in private concerns.

A MISCHIEF WROUGHT.

A Democrat, holding eminent social and business rank, whose name has been, of late, frequently mentioned in connection with an important political station, says in a private note to us, "I have a horror of being a politician. Is it impossible for a man to hold a public trust, and not be a politician?"

To which we respond—experience counts for as much in political employments, as in military or naval, or in any private pursuit whatsoever. During the rebellion, regularly educated military men, on both sides, felt and expressed great contempt for volunteer officers who had not received thorough preliminary military training. A railway corporation would not be likely to employ a mere lawyer as principal or subordinate engineer. A manufacturer of iron would not think of making an editor the superintendent of his mill. Any man who is sufficiently versed in politics to administer sauitably any political office, is a politician. None other is fit for the employment.

The "horror" which our correspondent expresses does not grow out of the nature of the case; but out of the senseless clamor perpetually kept up against all men who take part in public matters. To a certain degree the political classes have brought this evil upon themselves, by the wholesale and unsupported accusations they often hurl against each other. Commonly those politicians who are most corrupt themselves, are foremost in assailing the integrity of others. They hold that "they are as good as their neighbors, if not a great deal better;" and feeling conscious that they are scoundrels, they have no delicacy in accusing all other politicians of being such. Business men take up this refrain. Clergymen catch it in the pulpit, and ring it out again, until large numbers of sensitive and scrupulous people would about as soon be seen entering a brothel as be detected in participating actively in political matters.

This is a sore evil, because it tends directly to keep out of politics precisely those classes of citizens who ought to feel no "horror" at engaging therein. Next to religion itself, politics is the most grave and important subject of human concernment; and, hence, any clamor or prejudice which restrains the wisest and best men from devoting their mental and moral energies thereto, is a public calamity.

Voracious and eager birds of prey screach while swooping upon their obscene banquet, not because it afflicts their sensibilities to fatten on putrid flesh, but solely to drive away timid competitors, in order that they may enjoy the feast alone. In like manner men who are festered all over with political corruption, croak dismally about the disgrace of politics, hoping to drive away all upright and honorable men, so that they may have undisputed possession of the field. If republican institutions are to remain a success, these croakers must be silenced and driven out, and the places they hold in political management be occupied by pure and patriotic persons.

THE REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

The registration of the voters is required by the existing law of the Commonwealth. The provisions of this statute, as enacted at the last legislative session, are, or should be, familiar to our readers, the act having been widely published by all the State press. By its terms, the registries are directed to be opened on the 1st day of June. Yet we are not able to say that a single registration officer has, so far as yet, complied with his duty in this county. In other sections of the Commonwealth, we hear that the officers have been less remiss, and that the legal registration is proceeding quietly and in order. That the discharge of so palpable a duty should be evaded in a county so populous and influential as our own, is a matter of too much consequence to be ignored by its public journals, and justifies pointed remark.

It is to be observed that the statute of the last spring supplies the only existing and valid instructions by which our Assessors can be governed in making up the voting lists. All pre-existing laws for the regulation of that business, so far as the same were in conflict with the recent enactment, are expressly thereby repealed. Unless the Assessors are governed by the law of last April, they will have no legal directions for their guidance, and must find themselves practically without any precise functions whatever, in that particular line of their duty. The law stands, and while it stands, they must obey it, in its minutest letter. Neither an Assessor nor a Nisi Prius Judge can repeal or nullify its obligations. The Judge may decline to respect its authority, for reasons nominally constitutional in their substance, but his refusal has no weight beyond the precise case under hearing in his tribunal, and cannot become the law for the Commonwealth until it be confirmed by the competent judgment of a full Supreme bench. So much, the Nisi Prius judge can attempt, but no such privilege may be arrogated by the Assessors; for these, as for all other citizens, whether private or acting in any executive capacity whatever, the law stands in full force, wholly operative and to be respected by all. Hence, if any Assessor in this county presumes to defend his non-execution of a positive legal requirement, by relying on the recent decision rendered by Justice SHARSWOOD, at the Philadelphia Nisi Prius, he will expose himself to the proper penalty for an official misconduct.

The Philadelphia opinion is that of a single Judge, pronounced in a case made up purposely to reach and condemn those sections of the law which were expressly made applicable only to that city and county. So far as Justice SHARSWOOD was animated by his partizan zeal, to go beyond the record before him, and animadvert upon the sections of the statute generally applicable to the State at large, his opinion was not even good Nisi Prius law. The judgment in that case was good only for the Philadelphia sections, and, even for these, only in his own tribunal and pending the formal revision of the whole case in the full Court of which he is but only the fifth part. His obiter dicta are not law either in Philadelphia or Allegheny, and cannot safely be relied upon by a single Assessor in this Commonwealth. The law stands and demands the most faithful observance until repealed by the authority which enacted it, or until duly condemned as unconstitutional by the Supreme Court fully organized in banc.

Admonishing all Assessors and citizens of their existing obligations and privileges under this law of registration, it is proper also to add that we have no inclination to argue upon the propriety of the SHARSWOOD decision, so far as it concerns the special or Philadelphia sections of the law. Very many of our political friends, some of whom were members of the recent Legislature, and many of whom are jurists of culture and experience, have always failed to reconcile themselves to the legal acceptance of those special sections. Moreover, we are quite prepared to see that portion of the law wholly set aside by the full Court which very soon assembles at Philadelphia, and before which the registration case should, and doubtless will, be brought on appeal. We do not predict this result, but we shall promise not to complain of it, if it comes.

We have a still stronger confidence that the judgment of the same full bench will support the registry law, in all its other sections, as constitutional, and of valid force throughout the Commonwealth. If it were proper to predict aught, of a coming judicial utterance, we might here safely indulge in such an anticipation. The law has been carefully framed, in its general scope, expressly to withstand legal criticism, and it will prove, in that respect, a success. Of course, it would have been out of human power to devise any scheme which should be out of the reach of partizan objurgation—and a Republican legislature had no time to waste in that bootless work. They have aimed to contrive a measure which, in promoting the greater purity of the suffrage, should conform in letter and spirit to the fundamental law, and which cannot be argued away, except by such a sort of Nisi Prius logic as could only be satisfied by the repeal of all legislation upon the exercise of the suffrage, and by remitting the citizens to the bare constitutional provisions for their sole guidance.

The Assessors will do their duty, and be protected therein, only by obeying the law as it stands, and as it will stand. The ipse dixit of one Judge at Philadelphia will neither challenge nor excuse their official delinquency. The law must be obeyed, or officers may find themselves in the vocative, when called upon for their defense.

Since Justice SHARSWOOD, true to his political prejudices, seized eagerly upon his opportunity at Philadelphia to reflect upon a measure which is expressly framed for the protection of the suffrage against many fraudulent practices, it must be a matter for congratulation that the full Supreme Court is so soon to meet at Philadelphia, affording the proper occasion, and the only proper tribunal, for an authoritative judgment upon the questions made under the law. It is fortunate that the mischief of the SHARSWOOD opinion is to be, as we think, so soon and so effectually counteracted. We trust that there will be no failure, or no delay, in bringing these questions properly before the Court. Since, possibly, the parties directly concerned in the Philadelphia litigations may be remiss in their own action in the premises, we commend the matter to the Republican State Committee, urging that its members shall take the needful steps to secure the presentation and fair support of the case, so as to ensure a decision thereon at the coming term. The Committee cannot do a more politic or a more necessary thing, and we should invite their prompt attention to this suggestion, if it were not for our trust that the premises are already under their consideration. Once before the Supreme Court, the decision of the questions may be awaited with a patient submission by all good citizens. In the meantime, the Assessors must continue to do their duty as the law prescribes. They have no option, and will do well to take no responsibility which, too late, they may regret and find themselves unable to repair.

EDITORS GAZETTE: When the current discussion concerning Sunday opened, I was impressed with the almost perfect unanimity with which the secular morning newspapers of this city denounced the Germans for their proposed celebration on the Fourth of July. I well knew that the proprietors of these journals were all habitual violators of the Sunday laws, and were simply

"Compounding for sins they were inclined to,
By damning those they had no mind to."

That is, they were in favor of prosecuting their ordinary business on Sunday, in order to make money, but were furiously opposed to having the Sunday laws violated in any other form.

Yesterday, the Commercial seemed to have discovered that while living in a glass house it had been throwing stones in at its neighbors' windows; and so, in view of prosecutions threatened against it by the Germans, it came boldly out in defence of doing newspaper work on Sunday. Its plea is the old plea for half the crimes ever committed—Necessity.

Meanwhile, it has been instructive to observe the attitude of the religious journals. Instead of asking the secular newspapers which were denouncing the Germans to "pluck the beam out of their own eyes," they applauded their conspicuous hypocrisy, by quoting them as champions of sound morals and public order.

From what I know, I judge that intelligent members are of the community are not satisfied with either of these aspects of the discussion.

CONSISTENCY.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The Sunday Question.

Petitions have been extensively circulated and signed by our business men and prominent citizens, calling on the Mayor to issue his proclamation to forbid any noisy demonstration or parade on Sunday, such as the German societies have announced as their intention. Surely the Mayor's warning against bands of music and against such thronging of the streets with parading thousands as would hinder our peaceable citizens from attending their churches and keep children from their Sabbath schools, would be wise and might prevent a riot. The warning of the Mayor against breaking the peace of our American Sunday, and against secular parade and disturbance, is called for just now.

There is also a call, most respectably signed, for a citizens mass meeting, not in any of the churches, nor by any ministers, but by the fellow citizens of these men who so defiantly persist in celebrating "The Fourth of July" on Sunday, and turning our Sabbath into a civil holiday. This Sunday celebration is so contrary to all usages and so offensive to the religious sense of the community, and it indicates such a determination of a class of the Germans to break down our American Sunday, and defy our American principles, that it has become too serious a crisis to ignore. Without any pretence, however weak, of religious service or usage, and with a bold avowal of making our Sunday a day of secular parade and holiday celebration, it is announced as the purpose to have fifty-seven societies take part in the parade with bands of music, and to march through the cities, crossing both rivers, to set at nought all our religious privileges and our civil rights as a Sabbath-keeping people. It opens a war in our midst, a war of races and of religion, and it is high time for our citizens to express themselves as to this serious aspect of things. The meeting is called for Lafayette Hall this (Thursday) evening, at 7½ o'clock. Let it be a rousing meeting, with grave, sober talk. Our Mayor, we hope and believe, will do his full duty and will be well sustained. The meeting is called without distinction of party or of nationality or of religious sect.

School Pic-Nic and Exhibition.

The McMinn School, (No. 7 Findley township) closed on Saturday, the 26th instant, with a young folks' pic-nic and a school exhibition. The school was in session during the forenoon, and the parents who were present seemed highly pleased with the manner in which the recitations were conducted. At noon the little folks, together with the old folks, adjourned to a beautiful grove, after which a sumptuous dinner was served up. Judging from the way the good things were hid away, all present enjoyed this part of the exercises hugely. After an hour or two spent in play, the scholars were again called into the house and some excellent speeches, dialogues, essays and letters were given. The little speeches by Miss Jennie Jeffery and by Masters Harry Guy and George Jeffery were decidedly good. These little folks are "scarce three feet high," yet they delivered their speeches in an excellent manner. The school has been under the supervision of Miss Sallie J. Major, and has certainly made rapid improvement.

The Monument.

At a meeting of Post 35 G. A. R., held Friday evening, June 25th, the following preamble and resolutions relative to the location of the Soldiers' Monument, were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, At a meeting of eleven members of the Ladies Monumental Association, eight members thereof, despite the remonstrances of the other three, and in the absence of nine, did decide, with singular unanimity, to locate the proposed Soldiers' Monument in the Allegheny Cemetery; and while we are not prepared to say that if there had been a full attendance the result would have been otherwise, still we have no hesitancy in expressing our disapprobation of such action as manifestly unjust, determing, as it did, an exceedingly delicate question, a question which should have been decided by a full meeting of the incorporators. And whereas, From the published proceedings of that meeting, it is evident that the ruling portion had no excuse to justify their haste, and no reason or argument to sustain their action, and to say the least, from all appearances, were actuated by a petty local jealousy. And whereas, As soldiers who fought side by side with many of our fallen comrades, we respectfully represent that we have some little to say as to where the monument, which is intended to keep green their memories, shall be located. And whereas, As citizen soldiers, having contributed our mite to the monumental fund, we feel the peer of the highest contributor, and claim our say in determining the final question of location: therefore,

Resolved, That Post 35 G. A. R. hereby utters its unmistakable and emphatic disapproval of the action of a minority of the Ladies' Monumental Asssociation in designating Allegheny Cemetery as the depository of the monument to our fallen comrades.

Resolved, That the proffer of the Allegheny Park Commissioners, in tendering to the Monumental Association their choice of site in the park ground, free of cost, the building of the necessary stone foundation free of cost, together with the further guarantee of a liberal subscription to the fund, was not excelled, or even approached, in liberality and, in our opinion, the county affords no better site than is included in said proposition.

Resolved, That our opposition is not based on prejudice, nor are we wedded to any particular locality. Let the monument be erected where it can be seen and readily approached, without taking an unnecessary pilgrimage, and we are satisfied, whether located in Allegheny or elsewhere.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Post are due, and unanimously tendered, to Misses Galway and Maun, and Mrs. Scaife, for their zealous and determined opposition to those who proposed to bury the monument in Allegheny Cemetery.

Honors to a Western Pennsylvanian in Ireland.

Dr. Campbell, of Uniontown, Fayette county, in this State, was appointed as a lay delegate to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Ireland, which met in May street, Belfast, on Monday, the 7th day of June. He arrived in Ireland in time to discharge his duties as a delegate, but was prevented by the illness of his son, a young gentleman twenty-eight years of age, who accompanied him. Dr. Campbell's son died in the Royal Hotel, Belfast, on the 13th of June. The next day, Rev. John McNaughtan, pastor of Rosemary Street Church in that city, announced his decease in the Assembly, and offered the following resolution:

"That the General Assembly express their sincere sympathy with Dr. Campbell, of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, United States of America, deputy to the Presbyterian churches in these lands, under that trying dispensation of Divine Providence, which has bereft him of a beloved son. They rejoice to know that he has the best of all consolations, the fact that his son followed Christ, and died in the faith, full of hope and comfort."

The funeral took place on Monday, June 14th. His remains were taken to Cookstown, county Tyrone, for interment. In testimony of their respect for Dr. Campbell and the Presbyterian Church of the United States, the Assembly appointed the following gentlemen to attend the funeral: Revs. John McNaughton, Dr. Watts, Dr. Dill, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Leslie and Mr. McCloskie. The clerk was instructed to convey, officially, to Dr. Campbell this expression of the Assembly's respect and christian sympathy in his bereavement.

Many of our very best citizens in Western Pennsylvania have come from Presbyterian Ulster, and under the care of the Irish Assembly. Such sympathy and respect shall not soon, we are persuaded, be forgotten by us.

The Sunday Demonstration.

The Executive Committee for the German demonstration on the Fourth of July, met at Turner's Hall last evening, and completed their arrangements. A programme was read and adopted, with instructions to have it published in the city papers.

Mr. Bauer, the Chairman, after calling the meeting to order, stated that no drunken or disorderly men would be permitted to march in the procession, and that the exercises must be conducted in a quiet, orderly manner.

One speaker suggested that the Mayors of the cities be requested to have their police turn out to prevent disturbance.

Mr. Leow said that the Germans could protect themselves and did not require the aid of the police.

The Fire in Allegheny.

The extent of the loss at the fire in Allegheny, an account of which we published yesterday morning, is perhaps not so large as we stated, but will not fall far short of it. Frazier Brothers estimate their actual loss at $8,000, which is covered by insurance in the following Companies: Lycoming, $5,000; Columbia, of Lancaster, $1,000; Cumberland Valley, $2,000; United States, of Baltimore, $1,000. Total, $9,000. The barrel factory or cooper shop destroyed was a separate builing from the planing mill, and was owned by Mr. Lamb, whose loss is estimated at $5,000, upon which there is a partial insurance. Munroe, Hamilton & Company will lose about $4,000, upon which there is no insurance, and the loss of the Fort Pitt and Forest Lumber Companies will exceed $5,000.

Real Estate Transactions.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. H. B. Smithson, auctioneer, sold the property at the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Market street, and also the property on the upper corner of Fifth Avenue and Market alley. The first had a front of thirty feet on Market street by one hundred and one on Fifth avenue. It belonged to the Margaret Knox heirs, and was sold to Mr. Joseph Morganstern for eighty-five thousand dollars. The other was twenty by thirty feet in extent, and was purchased by Mr. J. D. Ramaley, of the Hat Parlor, for twenty thousand dollars. The property of the Breed estate, on Wood street, between Fifth avenue and Diamond alley, was bid up to thirty-three thousand dollars by the heirs.

THE SYMPTONS OF CONSUMPTION

Paleness of the countenance.
Spitting, or expectoration of pus.
This pus sinks in water.
It is sometimes streaked with blood.
There is chilliness or shiverings, and flashes of heat.
There is a pearly whiteness of the eyes.
The hair of the head falls off.
At times there is a circumscribed red spot on one or both cheeks.
There is swelling of the hands and feet.
There is great debility and emaciation of the body.
There is a high colored state of the urine.
With a deposit on standing like brick dust.
There is oftentimes a great thirst.
The blood is hurried through the arteries and veins.
The pulse is over a hundred, and even as high as one hundred and forty a minute.
The veins on the surface of the body are bluer than usual, and languid.
As the disease progresses the debility increases.
The expectoration becomes more copious.
The finger nails are incurvated.
There is a marasmus and wasting of all the powers of life.
There is often pain in one or both lungs.
There is often diarrhoea and faintness.
There is great sinking of the vital forces.
When there are turbercles, small portions of turberculous matter will be expectorated.
This tubercular matter has an offensive odor.
On an examination with a lung sound, rattling and gurgling is heard.
There is always more or less cough.

Some of these symptons are always present in pulmonary consumption, and nearly or quite all of them in different stages of the disease.

No disease of which we have any knowledge is so common and so almost invariably fatal; yet this need not be the case if the earlier symptoms were heeded. Time and again we have called attention to Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, which will in every instance of a recent cough arrest the progress of the disease and hinder its development, and even after it has become settled will often cure it and arrest further decay of the lungs.

Sold at the great Medicine Store, No. 167 LIBERTY STREET, one door from St. Clair. Dr. Keyser may be consulted at his LIBERTY STREET OFFICE EVERY DAY UNTIL 12 o'clock, and at his resident office, No. 120 Penn street, from 1 to 4 o'clock.

WORDS OF WEIGHT FOR WIVES AND MOTHERS.

The superiority of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS over all other tonics and correctives, as a remedy for dyspepsia, billiousness, nervous affections and all complaints of the visceral organs and as a preventive of malirious disorders, is proverbial; but perhaps it is not so generally known that the ingredients of this famous invigorant and alterative exercise a powerful and most beneficial influence in that numerous and distressing class of ailments, of which so many thousands of delicate women are the patient, uncomplaining victims. The special troubles of the sex, commencing with the dawn of womanhood, and extending over a period of from thirty to thirty-five years, are as readily and certainly relieved by the operation of this admirable vegetable preparation, as any of the complaints common to both sexes, for which it is recommended as a specific. The attention of mothers is invited to its balsamic effect in those peculiar cases of functional irregularity and irritation which, when neglected or maltreated, destroy the health and shorten the lives of so many invalids. There is no need for the powerful and dangerous drugs too often resorted to in such cases. The mild tonic and restorative action of the BITTERS is all the assistance that nature requires in its struggle to overcome the difficulty, and a vast amount of suffering would be spared to the sex if they placed implicit faith in this wholesome vegetable invigorant, corrective and nervine, and discared the pernicious nostrums advertised by ignorant and mercenary charlatans.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, June 30, 1869.

The stringency of the money market exceeds any thing ever experienced in the financial history of Wall street. Money on call is worth from ¼ to ½ per cent per day, and yet gold is firmer and actually advancing to-day. The market opened at 137 weak and closed strong at 137¼. It seems the July payment of 31,860,000 dollars of coupons have all been discounted and the bulls in gold are only awaiting the disposal of part of the cash gold now on the market in order to have their gold carried for nothing, and then put up the price to suit their own ideas.

Government bonds were dull and lower to-day and actually declined ¼ per cent for the first time since their issue before maturity of the coupons.

Stocks are all higher and strong, with a tendency to a further upward movement.

Mertz: Gold, 137¼; Silver, 130; Eighty-one's, 120⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 121⅛; do 1864, 116⅞; do 1865, 117½; do 1865, Consols, 119⅜; do 1867, 119⅜; do 1868, 119¼; Ten Forties, 107⅜; New York Central, 96⅜; Erie, —; Reading, 98⅝; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 56; Ohio & Mississippi, 33¼; Michigan Southern, 10⅜; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 102¼; Chicago & Rock Island, 18⅝; Chicago & North Western, 80¼; Chicago & North Western Preferred, 96¼; Adams Express Company, 62; Merchants Union Express, 16; Pacific Mail, 88⅝; Western Union Telegraph Company, 38⅝; Am. [By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 30, 1869.

Money was dull during bank hours and very active at 7 per cent. and commissions of ¼@½ per cent. Subsequently the price dropped to the legal rate on a report that the District Attorney intends to undertake prosecutions for violations of the usury law. The Treasury coin disbursements commencing to-morrow should bring relief. It has leaked out that about five millions of greenbacks are locked up by parties manipulating the money market to affect prices generally. Sterling is dull at 109½@110¼. Gold is firm and opened at 137⅛, and closed at 137¼. Clearances, $82,000,000. Exports, $53,500.

Governments opened weak and closed strong and higher. Coupons '81, 120⅞@121⅛; do. '62, 121⅛@121¾; do. 64, 117@117⅛; do. '65, 117¾@118; do. new, 119⅞@119¾; do. '67, 119⅝@119¾; do. '68, 119⅝@119¾; 10-40s, 107¾@108; Pacifics, 105⅝@106.

State bonds lower, except Tennessees; Missouris, 90¼; old Tennessees, 61; new do. 57½; new Virginias, 61¾; North Carolinas, 52½.

Stock market active and buoyant with a general advance. The features have been New York Central, Pacific Mail and Northwestern. This sharp upward turn in prices gave rise to an impression that some of the "bears" had been buying stocks. One of the largest short sellers is understood to have notified buyers of his purpose to deliver his stocks to-morrow. The market closed firm but unsettled. The Reading Railroad Company has declared a dividend of five per cent.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, June 30, 1869.

The crops are now being watched with a good deal of interest, not only by the farmer and dealer, but the public at large, as it is a matter in which everybody is more or less interested. Continued heavy rains are reported in the west, and it is said that in some localities the Wheat will probably be injured; in this section of country there has been considerable rain recently, but not enough so far to injure the crops, at least we hear of but little complaint and at this writing, there is every prospect of a big yield. Flour and Wheat continue dull and weak in all of the leading markets, thus affording evidence that there is a want of confidence in the recent advance, and that dealers generally are looking for lower [illegible] instead of higher prices. The latest advices from Liverpool are rather discouraging for those who have been counting on big prices.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged; sales of good to strictly prime solid fresh packed, at 22@25.

BEANS—Dull at $2@2,25 per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and unchanged, 28@30 cts. for standard brands.

CHEESE—Is dull and in good supply, but unchanged; sales of common Western Reserve 16@17, Factory at 1[illegible] Goshen at 19@20.

COTTON—Messrs. Isaiah Dickey & Co., report having sold 30 bales low Tennessee Middlings, at [illegible]

DRIED FRUIT—The demand continues very light, and prices are nominal. Peaches 10@12 for quarters, and 15@16 for halves. Apples, 10@12.

EGGS—Under the influence of diminished arrivals, firmer, and we now quote at 19@20—bulk of the sales at 19c.

FEATHERS — Supply in hands of commission men almost exhausted. Live geese may be quoted at 85@90, to the trade, and $1 in a retail way.

FLOUR—Although firm, is quiet the demand being confined entirely to supplying immediate wants of retail trade, and, notwithstanding the receipts continue light, the supply as yet is fully up to the demand. We continue to quote Western Flours at $6@6,50 for Springs, and $7@7,50 for Winters, as to quality.

GRAIN—Wheat is in light supply, and the mills are buying all that offers at $1,30@1,35 for prime to choice Winter. Rye is in better demand, and dealers generally quote it at $1,15@1,20. We heard, however, of $1,30 having been offered for 2 car loads. Oats quiet and unchanged; 65@66 for car load lots, and 68@70 for small lots in store. Corn is scarce, and prime yellow is selling in store at 80@82; mixed 74@75 for car load lots. Nothing doing in Barley worthy of notice.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny scales of 29 loads at $17@29, as to quality.

HEMP—Is dull and nominal—last sale reported at $210.

HUSKS—Sales at 3 cts per pound.

LIME—Cleveland Lime is quoted at $2,50, per bbl, and Common White at $1.75.

LARD OIL—Firm but unchanged. $1,50 for extra No. 1, and $1,20 for No. 2,

POTATOES—New crop continue very scarce, and fresh receipts sell readily at $4,00 per bbl. Old crop dull and nominal at 40@45 per bushel.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady with a fair jobbing demand at 14⅜@15 for Shoulders; 17¼@18¼ for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 18¼ for plain Hams; 21 for canvassed Sugar Cured, and 21 for Breakfast Bacon. Dried Beef 21. Lard 20 in tierce; 20¼ in bbls and 21@21½ in kgs and pails. Mess Pork $33½.

PEANUTS—Small sales at 12.

SALT—Dull; may be quoted at $1,65@1,70 for car load lots.

SEEDS—The demand for Clover and Timothy Seeds seems to have almost entirely subsided. Flaxseed would sell but there is none in market.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY June 30, 1869.

There was little or no movement in oil to-day, but a single sale reported, and, compared with yesterday, the feeling was rather weak, and Refined ruled a shade lower. There was considerably anxiety manifested to hear from Philadelphia. Up to 4 P. M. some deliveries had been made, and settlements effected, but the great proportion of the June contracts had not been settled at that hour, and it was supposed that the most of the deliveries would not be made until late in the evening. It was believed that the "shorts" would be able to cover with but little difficulty, and without sustaining much of a loss, as there was not much June oil sold below the price current to day, and a good deal of it was sold considerably above 31. As we noted yesterday, the Pittsburgh short interest did not amount to much, this time, most of those who were short for this month having covered some time since. New Yorkers, however, were short, but to what extent, it is difficult to conjecture—variously estimated from 10,000 to 30,000 bbls.

CRUDE.

But a single sale reported, 1,000 bbls last four months, seller, at 14½: Spot and all July seller, were offered at 14¾; "lines," July to December 15; August to October at 15, and September to December at 14¼.

REFINED

Not a single sale reported—market quiet and dull, and compared with yesterday, prices are a fraction lower. Spot was quoted at 31—5,000 bbls offered in Philadelphia, at that figure; July, 32; and July to December, 33. As already noted, there was but little disposition manifested to make fresh sales, the movements in Philadelphia absorbing the time and attention of dealers generally.

FROM PITTSBURGH TO LAKE SUPERIOR.

ITORS GAZETTE: After a very re- ng excursion through the bracing n of Lake Superior, I feel sufficient- nevolent to share the pleasure of the vith your readers. Should any fail ceive the equity of the dividend, let attribute the failure to my lack of ower to properly convey to others leasure which I enjoyed.

hough a journey to Lake Superior s quite an undertaking, during these n and sultry days; although calculat- mere miles, it is a long journey— 950 miles—yet I think any one who nade an excursion thitherward, in ummer, will bear me out in saying the distance seems but too short, the tourist is fairly out of the smoky zon which bounds our Iron City. If afraid of the route by steamer from eland, you have but a pleasant ride ur or five hours by the comfortable of the C. & P. R. R. until the com- ble steamer is boarded, outward nd on Tuesday or Fridays, which will sit one on the rock bound coast of "Iron Bay," in the pleasant town of quette, in about three days.

, if apprehensive of experiencing a ght indisposition" on the lake, you purchase a through ticket on the sburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Rail- to Marquette for the moderate sum wenty-six dollars. Leaving at 2:30 you take one of the Company's er Palace sleeping cars, sup at Alli- , breakfast at Plymouth, and reach ago about 8:20 A. M. You can here over this remarkably fast city until M., when you again enter a Palace on the Chicago and Northwestern road for Green Bay, taking you ugh the garden of Wisconsin, and beautiful towns of Janesville, nona, Oshkosh, Fon Du Lac, Depere, to Fort Howard, where you arrive at arly hour in the morning, and imme- ely step on board the elegant and modious steamers of the daily line, ch leave for Escanaba, at the head of en Bay, on the arrival of the train. trip up this beautiful Bay is a charm- ride. The steamer makes but two ings, at the mouth of the Peshtigo the Menominee—lumbering stations he west coast—arriving at Escanaba bout 2 P. M., just two days out, one which we have spent in Chicago.

t Escanaba I would recommend a de- of a few days to those in search of sure. Mine host of the "Tilden se," Mr. Hutchinson, will make his sts comfortable; here is a fine water vel beach, good boats, good fishing beautiful scenery. And from per- l knowledge I can say that Mr. H. s get up about as good a dish of ckled trout as any epicure could desire. his is a new town, springing up on margin of a wilderness, under the ulse of the Peninsular branch of the cago and Northwestern Railroad, ch runs hence to the iron mines. e are the most extensive ore docks on lakes, capable of storing thirty thou- l tons of ore, with an excellent harbor good water to the open Lake Michi- for vessels of fifteen hundred tons. s not at all unusual to find ten or lve such vessels loading their iron ght from the immense dock all at e. The hopper bottom cars drop r load down into pockets, from which in turn dropped into the vessel's l by a series of adjustible schutes, saving any handling. The only ducts of this region are iron ore and rcoal pig metal. The Peninsular l is now delivering on their docks an rage of about three thousand gross s daily.

Vhen satisfied with the curiosities and at Escanaba, we step on board of the and travel northward, through a prim- l wilderness of cedar and balsam, not ountering a single settlement, save the nty of the wood chopper, for the en- distance of sixty-five miles, when we ve in the pleasant little iron metrop- of Negoune, where the Marquette Ontonagon railroad, and that we e been traveling intersect each other, n acute angle. Here is also a good el—the "Ogden House,"—but as we er the refreshing breezes of Lake Su- or, at this season of the year, to any nd town, however pleasant, we nge cars for Marquette, fourteen miles ant, and are soon on the broad piazas he "Northwestern Hotel," while mine t, Barclay is distributing the party his most airy chambers, and in- cting the cook to prepare a "trout per."

ow we are in for it. If by this time traveler has not forgotton the price of roleum, the rate of interest, or the pre- m on gold, he is in a hopeful condi- . Sure I am that he has forgotten dyspepsia, and has not mislaid his ap- te. I find that I have not room, on occasion to conclude my notes, and leave my fellow travelers to enjoy delightful twilight of this high lati- e, which will keep us company until ut nine P. M., resuming the subject in morning. R.

A Singular Fact.

he peach was originally a poisoned al- nd. Its fleshy parts were used to poi- arrows, and the fruit was for this pur- e introduced into Persia. The trans- tation and cultivation, however, not y removed its poisonous qualities, but duced the delicious fruit we now en- .

We take the above from the Waverley gazine of the 30th of January, 1869. have often heard it said that the plant- of a peach-stone on this island would duce the almond, such as may be seen the Custom House grounds, on this nd, and in several of the yards occu- d by citizens.

We are willing to be qualified on oath t some eighteen months ago we planted peach-stones as an experiment for sing the peach on this island; we now ve in lieu of the peach the coarse hard- e almond, similar to those above ntioned. We are not aware of any poi- ous qualities in this almond, although have heard of children having died m the effects of eating them, which ght have occurred from having eaten nost any other green fruit in excess. e have eaten the fruit ourself without er having been poisoned. Can any of r friends throw light upon the subject? —Key West Dispatch.

What's in a Name!

On the strength of Shakespeare's connection with the Globe Theatre, in Bankside, somebody has suggested that the new bridge at Blackfriars should be named after the great dramatist, and that a statue to his memory be erected somewhere on the bridge. We have not the slightest objection to the statue, if only a decent design can be obtained, but as to the name, we would rather be excused. It might be all very well to attach the names of great men to public thoroughfares if there were any means of insuring that the idea at first associated with the act would not wear out. But this is just what cannot be insured; and, therefore, the proposed mode of paying homage is, at best, a questionable one, and had better be left alone. We have in the city a street named after the author of "Paradise Lost," and a nice place it is; and undoubtedly the bridge will be cleaner, and altogether brighter and more respectable in appearance than Milton street, there would be the same tendency manifested by the passers-by in the one case as in the other to treat the name merely as a name, and nothing more. All the meaning would be squeezed out of it. If the familiarity with which it was used did not exactly breed contempt, it would produce something so very much like it that one might be puzzled to distinguish between the two. Then to fancy the treatment such a name would receive from the small boys and tatterdemalion crew who must utter it, or something like, without the slightest knowledge of the associations! To them Shakespeare might be a horse, or a new sort of tart, but very little respect would they bestow on the word.—London Press.

Negro Eligibility to Office in Georgia.

The Macon Telegraph, a leading Democratic paper in Georgia, frankly concedes that, by the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the State, negroes are just as eligible to all civil offices as whites. In concluding an article upon the subject, it says:

"No well-informed man can have a doubt that the Federal Government is determined to reseat the negroes in the Legislature at all hazards, and that all our opposition will be futile. The refusal of the Legislature to respect this decision of the Supreme Court will only bring about a legislative purgation by bayonets; but we should care less for that than to see the Legislature assume an indefensible and untenable position, against an authoritative though unsatisfactory exposition of the law; or adopt any temporary expedients which would be practically unavailing against the dominent despotism. In the midst of all our troubles let us preserve respect for law. Let us arm ourselves with patience and look forward in hope to better days."

Chicago Parks.

The Chicago correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: "The parks of the city, two in number, for we have only two worthy the name in size and adornment, are looking well in the freshness of new leaves and floral beauties. Lincoln, on the lake shore, is the larger, and with its winding stream, its pavilions, its rustic bridges, and its chief glory, which is the splendid growth of trees, is a resort for the hot and tired life of the streets, of which advantage is taken by thousands daily. Union, on the West Side, is a gem of artistic ornamentation. In both, every Saturday, music is given by bands, which, beginning their service of melody before sunset, give pleasure far into the night, and lure from their homes, not only the members of the upper and middle classes, but the very poor. Parks are a utility which cannot be over estimated from the standpoint of social advantage. Parks, schools and churches are all educators and belong in one category."

PRINCELY ACTORS.—The people of the city of Coburg have been treated to a rare enjoyment by their prince. On the evening of the 26th of May, Lessing's "Minna von Barnhelm" was given in the Ducal Court Theatre, not by the usual theatre personnel, but by distinguished persons, at whose head was the reigning Duke Ernst, who took the part of Major Tellheim, with his Oberhofmeister and Oberhofmarschall. The audience consisted of about twelve hundred invited guests, in state dress. Hofrath Bodenstedt, the intendant of the Court Theatre at Meiningen, was present to aid the distinguished amateurs, and Hofrath Emil Devrient, of Dresden, was manager, and took the part of Paul Werner. The performance is described as being "in all respects perfect." The palm was accorded to Frau von Ruttenstein, the wife of Prince Leopold of Coburg-Cohary, in the role of Franzisca, Minna's chambermaid.

LAST FALL a man drove his horse and buggy and himself off Molson's wharf at Montreal, into the river, by mistake, of course. Search was diligently made for many days for the body and the vehicle, but with no success. A few days ago, a man paddling along Longueuil shore struck his paddle against a hard substance. He stopped his canoe, looked over the side, and a horrid spectacle met his gaze. There was a man lying across a carriage of some kind, one of his hands firmly grasping the iron rail of the vehicle. The horse was gone. The body and carriage were taken out, and were recognized as the remains of the man and buggy lost last Fall.

THE New York Times says: It is curious to observe that our New York Postoffice always sends to Europe a much greater number of letters than it receives from that part of the world. For the month of May, it sent away 420,553 letters and received 371,062. This seems to show that the mass of the foreigners settled in this country write home to their old friends oftener than the latter write to them. That rule, however, is broken in a single instance. The Italians send home but 4,569 letters for 7,893 brought over to them. Are they more hard-hearted than the rest of mankind? Or do they refrain from writing till Italy shall be entirely free, with Rome for its capital?

AMERICAN SHIPS.—The Danish Government has recently issued an order providing that ships belonging to the United States and carrying American certificates of registry shall, after July 1st, 1869, not be subject to readmeasurement in Danish harbors, but that the tonnage indicated in the certificates of registry shall be taken to be the true measurement for custom house calculations. This order has been made in consequence of a law to a similar effect passed by Congress in reference to Danish vessels in the harbors of the United States.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1 50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my19:151-d&F

ORDINANCES.

AN ORDINANCE

To Provide for the Tapping of Sewers and Making Connections Therewith.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Allegheny, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from and after the 24th day of June, 1869, any person who shall be the owner or lessee of premises, desiring to connect with any of the sewers of the city, shall first make application at the City Engineer's office, upon a book prepared for that purpose, and upon the receipt of such application, it shall be the duty of the City Engineer to issue a permit for tapping the sewer, subject to the provisions of this ordinance, and to collect the sum of one dollar ($1 00) for the privilege. Provided, however, that the permit shall be granted only upon the condition that the owner or lessee for whose benefit such connection is made, and each succeeding tenant shall, in consideration of the privilege thereby granted and enjoyed hold the city of Allegheny harmless from any loss or damage that may in any way result from, or be occasioned by, such sewer connection; and further, that they will not permit improper materials to be thrown into openings or inlets, such as grease, rags, shavings, sweepings or kitchen refuse, or solids of any kind, and will at all times keep these openings or inlets properly protected with gratings and catch-basins of description and form approved by the City Engineer. It shall moreover be a condition to the privilege granted that the party for whose use the attachment with the sewer is made shall have all down spouts, conductors or openings from buildings that discharge water or liquids upon the foot walks of the streets connected with the private drain, and the water or liquids carried underground to the sewer.

SEC. 2. The Sewerage Commission are hereby authorized to license such number of masons or plumbers in the several sewerage districts of the city to do the work of making the connections and laying the drains within the street limits or outside of the property line, as in their judgment may be deemed necessary. Provided no party be commissioned until he shall have furnished said Commission with a satisfactory certificate, signed by at least three (3) masons, if he be a mason, or three (3) plumbers, if he be a plumber, to the effect that the applicant is known to them to be a person regularly educated to the business, and is qualified to perform the duties which he undertakes, and previous to being licensed by said Commission the said party shall file a bond in such sum as may be designated by said Commission, not less, however, than two thousand dollars, with two or more sureties, conditional that he will indemnify and save the city harmless from all loss or damage that may be occasioned by reason of his neglect or carelessness, either during the progress of the work in his charge, or for its inefficiency after completion. And conditional also, that he will promptly, at the proper time and place, restore the street pavement over trenches or openings made for the purpose of laying drains to as good state and condition as he found it previous to opening the same. The repaving shall be done to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner. Upon the completion of any connection, or at stated times, as may be determined on by the Engineer, the agent to make return to the Engineer's office with description of the work done, on blanks prepared for that purpose.

SEC. 3. The agents of the city as such will have control only of the work that lies between the line of property and the sewer, and for the work within the limits described, will be held liable to the amounts of their bonds. The whole of the work, both on the street and within the limits of the premises, shall be done under the supervision of the Engineer department, (except the repaving,) and subject to such rules, regulations and restrictions as may be established by that office. The expenses incurred for making connections and laying private drains will be born by the persons for whose use the connection is made.

SEC. 4. Any person licensed to make connections with sewers, who shall be guilty of any violation of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be immediately deprived of his license. And if the connection with any sewer is made in violation of the provisions of this ordinance, or it shall be used for purposes not specified therein, there shall be incurred by the person so using said sewer improperly the penalty of twenty-five dollars, to be recovered summarily before the Mayor.

SEC. 5. It shall be unlawful for any person to place, throw or deposit in any catch-basin, sewer or drain, butcher's offal, garbage, dead animals, ashes, shavings, straw, tan bark, or solid refuse of any kind, and any person so offending, or causing any such obstruction to be placed so as to be carried into such sewer or basin, shall be subject to the penalty hereinbefore described in section 4.

SEC. 6. Any person injuring, breaking or removing any portion of any catch-basin, manhole cover, or any part of any sewer or appurtenances or obstructing in any manner the inlet or outlet of any sewer or drain, shall be subject to the penalty of twenty-five dollars, recoverable as aforesaid.

SEC. 7. It shall be deemed unlawful for any person to use a private sewer or house drain connected with any of the public sewers without providing an intervening catch-basin to catch and retain the silt and heavy substance carried from the gutters or sink pools, and without also providing at all inlets suitable gratings to prevent the admission of rubbish or solid matters that might find their way to them, and further to fix appliances to trap the sewer gases and to prevent their escape into the buildings or areas.

SEC. 8. It shall be deemed unlawful for any person in possession of premises into which a pipe or other connection with the public sewer or drain has been laid for the purpose of carrying off animal refuse from privies or water closets, slops from kitchens or for other purposes to allow the same to remain without good and perfect fixtures, so attached as to allow a sufficiency of water to be applied as to properly carry off such matters, and to keep the same unobstructed. Each day the same is permitted to remain without such fixtures for supplying said water, shall be deemed a distinct and separate offense, and liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars, as in other offenses named in this ordinance.

SEC. 9. The City Engineer shall pay over all moneys received by him for permits to the City Treasurer weekly. The same to be applied toward the payment of an Inspector and such other expenses as may be incurred by the provisions of this ordinance.

SEC. 10. All drain pipe for public sewers, or for private drains connecting with the public sewers, must be subject to the inspection of the City Engineer, his assistant, or an authorized inspector connected with the Engineer department.

SEC. 11. No dwelling house, store, or other building shall be erected or altered on any street or alley in which there is a sewer without providing an underground connection by drain pipes with the sewer for carrying off all the drainage that would otherwise flow over the footway or sidewalk of streets.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of the Street Commissioner at stated times during each month (and on side hill streets after every heavy rain) to inspect the sewer inlet basins and to have removed all silt and rubbish collected in and about these openings, and at all times to keep these inlets in a condition to receive the surface drainage and to retain the heavier matters carried to them.

SEC. 13. The City Engineer shall establish such rules and regulations in reference to the construction and use of house connections not inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance, as in his judgment may be necessary.

SEC. 14. Parties granted permits to drain property not fronting on the street in which the sewer is located shall pay a special rate for the privilege (the amount to be determined by the Sewer Commission,) and shall give a certificate to the effect that they will not at any time interpose any objection to the laying of a sewer on the street upon which their property fronts, by reason of their having tapped another sewer for the purpose of drainage.

SEC. 15. No drain from any building shall be connected with a public sewer otherwise than by a drain pipe, which shall be six inches in diameter, except it be authorized by the Sewer Commission.

SEC. 16. Notice must be left at the office of the City Engineer by the person who is to make the connection with any sewer or drain when such work will be ready for inspection previous to making said connection. This notice must be in writing and left between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M.

BUTLER, PA.

Seventh Day of the Shugart Poisoning Case—Testimony for the Commonwealth Continued—The Foreman of the Jury Faints and the Trial is Suspended for a Day.

BUTLER, June 30, 1869.

Court met at half past eight o'clock and began the seventh day of the Shugart murder trial.

THE SHUGART GENEALOGY.

The first witness was Mr. Gabriel Etzel, a nephew of the deceased, who testified as follows:

I am a merchant, residing and doing business in Butler. Jacob Shugart was my uncle. I came from Germany, from the same place as Shugart. I was raised, principally, about three miles from the town; was between twelve and thirteen years of age when I come here. In Germany lived within three miles of grandfather, and was at the house about once a month. Grandfather was about ninety years of age when he died. He died of old age. He was always in good health, as far as I know. Don't know when grandmother died. She was an old woman when she died, but I don't know what she died of. I don't recollect anything about her death. There were four boys and five girls in her family. The oldest boy is still living in Germany and is in good health; he is about sixty or seventy years old. Then there was Henry, Valentine and Jacob. Henry died since I came to this country, with rupture, I am told. Valentine is also dead. He died in this county. He was sick about eight or nine days. I can't tell how he died. He was over fifty. All the sisters, I think, lived to be over sixty, and none died suddenly. My mother is still living and in good health. I never heard of Jacob Shugart being sick up to the time of his death. I saw him frequently in town, nearly every day. He was very industrious. Don't know of him losing any time from his work through sickness. He was considered a very good hand. I was down at his house on the day of his death, after he had expired. Mr. Eick came up to the store and told me to hurry for the priest, that Shugart was dying. I could hardly believe it; asked if it was the old man himself. He said that it was, and told me to hurry. I then started to get the priest; before I got there I met Maggie Shugart, who told me she had been there and that the priest was coming. I then came back and was stopped at the store about five minutes, then went to the house. Before I got down met Mr. Leonard Wise, who told me it was all over—he was dead. When I got there he was dead and they were preparing to lay him out. I saw Mrs. Shugart. I think she was in Laux's room. I asked her why she didn't send for some one, that I would like to have seen him before he died. She said there was nobody to send, she was all alone and that she had done all she could. She said: "I know there is talk out already, but I did all I could." She told me he was sick the night before, that he had vomited. Took me upstairs to show me where he had vomited, but it had been cleaned up, and I could only see the marks. She told me to assist in making preparations for the funeral. I left in about ten minutes; staid till he was carried into the front room. I went back in the evening when I shut up the store and staid until eleven o'clock that night. While I was sitting up that night with Mr. Anthony Wise and Mr. Eick, in the room where the corpse was lying, they were holding a conversation at the front door. The family were in the back room, at the door leading from the one in which I was sitting. I heard Annie say, naming a schoolmate, that she had asked her if she had not got some rat poison lately. Heard no reply to that whatever, and no more was said. I went home soon after that. I was there the next evening before the funeral; staid nearly all night. Heard nothing then. Mr. Wise came to the store next day and I said, "Shugart died very suddenly." He said "Yes, it was sudden, and I'm not altogether satisfied. I'll tell you more about it to-night." In the evening he made about the same statement as he has testified to here. Then he told me all about her intimacy with Joseph Martin, [indicted with the prisoner in the present case.] He thought there was something not right, and it would be better to have a post mortem examination. After what he told me I thought it was best to have one myself. I told him to tell her that it would be better to have him examined. He said the children were agreed, but that she was opposed to it. We then arranged for Dr. Bredin to go to the house next morning and hold a post mortem examination at seven o'clock. Wise said it was an awful case, and might give the family a hard name, but thought he ought to be examined. I told him if it was found out afterwards that he (Shugart,) was poisoned, people might blame us for knowing and not telling it, and we intended to have it done privately, so that if nothing was wrong we would have nothing said. I told him also to be pretty sure, before he went on with the examination. He said he thought he (Shugart) was poisoned, from all the circumstances. Next morning it was about eight o'clock before Dr. Bredin could be found. We intended to have it done that morning, without her knowing anything about it. I went to the house with him, but I saw that it was too late, as the people had commenced to gather for the funeral. Wise wasn't there. I left the doctor and went home, thinking to see Wise on the road. I didn't hear any conversation between the doctor and Mrs. Shugart. Wise sent for me in a few minutes after I had got home. He stated that it was now too late to have it go on at the house, but it should be done at the grave. He told me to go to the priest and ask him if he would allow it. The priest, when I saw him, consented and said it ought to be done. We then made the arrangements. I then went to the funeral and came home with it, the affair being placed in the hands of the priest and doctor, so as to keep it quiet. I thought if I staid it might cause some of the rest to stay and defeat the arrangement. About an hour afterwards the priest came and told me the doctor had Shugart's stomach in his office. It took him three or four days before he had satisfactorily tested it. At the conclusion he said he was positive Shugart had died of poison.

He then wanted me to make information. I told him the Commonwealth should do so. He then went out and got Wise to make it.

SETTLING THE ESTATE.

The first Sunday after Shugart's death, I was asked to go down and examine the affairs. Charley Koch was along. Mrs. Shugart said she could attend to the affairs without an administrator. Some of the children, however, insisted on having one or two, and wanted Charley Koch and I. She still opposed it. We then asked Mr. McJunkin about the matter, and he said she was entitled to $300 in money, and one-third of the balance. We told her so, and I told her I thought she had better take the furniture, as she would still keep house, and it would not be appraised very high. She said she would take the money; that the children didn't seem to be satisfied now, and that after a while they might be still more dissatisfied, and that some of them said she might get married again, so she would take the money. We then went to get the papers at the office of Mr. Nixon. She asked him if one would not be enough, and taking this as a hint that she didn't want me, I left. In about fifteen minutes she sent me word that the papers were made out for two, and I had better come down and sign them. I wouldn't go, and said in reply that I thought she didn't want me, and I would have nothing to do with it. The business was settled hurriedly, before the doctor had concluded his experiments. We knew at this time that Shugart had been poisoned.

ANOTHER FAINTING SCENE.

At this juncture one of the jurors, Mr. Stephen Boice, the foreman, manifested indications of an approaching fainting fit. The attention of the Court was directed to the case, and proceedings suspended while the jury retired to the fresh air. Mr. Boice, however, got no better, and it was found necessary to call in medical attention. He was pronounced unable to sit in the box, but physician thought in an hour or two might be sufficiently recovered to proceed. It was now ten o'clock, and the court accordingly adjourned until two P. M., Mr. Boice in the meantime being placed in the care of a physician.

Afternoon Session.

When the Court assembled at two o'clock, Mr. Boice had recovered sufficiently to take a seat in the box with the other jurors, and the trial was proceeded with.

Mr. Gabriel Etzel was again brought on the stand and resumed his testimony—At the time of his death uncle had about seventeen or eighteen hundred dollars in notes and money, besides the household goods and the house and lot. The witness was not cross-examined.

Catharine Fisher, sworn—I live down near the Freeport bridge, near town. Knew Jacob Shugart and his family. Was at his house the last night he lay there dead. Mrs. Shugart's father came to the house that night. When Mrs. Shugart's father came his daughter, (the prisoner) said "I am lost." This was towards night.

No cross-examination.

WHAT THE NEIGHBORS SAY.

Mrs. Annie Wise, sworn—Live in Butler. Knew Jacob Shugart about sixteen years. Was at his house about half an hour after his death. I did'nt hear much said until old Mr. Schmoker, Mrs. Shugart's father, came in, when she said, "Father, I am lost." He said, "I don't want to hear any more words like that." It was spoken in German. I did not hear the father say anything before this. I staid about half an hour. I was at the funeral.

Cross-examination—This was before he was laid out. I did not see Mrs. Fisher there. Her father also said it was hard enough, but she had plenty to live on.

Mrs. Walberg Kline, sworn.—Am a neighbor to Shugart's. Our lot joins with Shugart's property, next to the creek. Mrs. Shugart came to my house the same day her husband died. She wanted parsnip tops for the little child that was sick, about half past nine or ten o'clock. She said it was not so hard that the little girl was sick, but that her husband had gone away sick too, and she did not know how he would come home. She was afraid he would get the cramp. I said "you'd better go and look after him." Mrs. Shugart said, "I can't; my little girl is sick." I said, "I'd rather leave the child and attend to my husband, as the other children could attend to the sick one." Then Mrs. Shugart went home and did not come back. She stated at the same time that Mr. Shugart's mother died very suddenly when she came home from the field. At another time, before Mr. Shugart died, she was afraid Mr. Shugart would die suddenly, like her brother and mother. This was about two weeks before he died. She also said she was afraid he would die soon. About three or four weeks before his death she said he had an attack of the cramps, and she was afraid if he was attacked again it would take him off. She did not tell me, on the morning of his death, what was the matter with him the night before. I was at the house a few minutes before Mr. Shugart died. Mrs. Shugart said, "Mrs. Cline, I told you this morning that my man would soon die." She said she gave him some whiskey and pepper after the medicine, when he said, "kill me, kill me, I must die; that whiskey is burning out my heart." I then went home. At this time he was still lying in bed and not laid out. I only went back when he was buried. I heard her say Mr. Shugart had eaten a radish at dinner time, which was like poison. I had often, before Mr. Shugart's death, saw Joe Martin at the house. I saw him about every day during the summer. He had full access to every part of the house. He was there generally when Shugart was away. He commenced to go so regular about the Fourth of July. I saw him in Mr. Shugart's house on the Fourth of July. She went with me to a picnic that day; Martin was there, too. Mrs. Shugart washed for Martin. She was not in the habit of taking in washing for people. I saw Martin twice in the night time go through my sister-in law's lot, next door, and then into Shugart's house. This was about eleven o'clock. He had to climb over the fence to get into Shugart's lot. I would often see him lurking around when the moon was up. In the day time I used often to see him go in through the gate. From my house I can see into the back door of Shugart's house.

Cross-examined—We were on good terms. On the Fourth of July, when I went into Mr. Shugart's house, I wanted to get Mrs. Shugart to go with me and my sister-in-law to the picnic. Shugart was there, and Martin, and several of the children. I stated to my neighbors that I would have to be a witness in this case. I never said I could testify in this case and get money enough to buy a shawl or a dress. I was subpœned to the Coroner's Inquest and the Grand Jury, and was then summoned to Court. I did not see Shugart going to work on the morning of the day of his death. She got the parsnip tops from me. She said they were good for the cramps.

[The witness was cross-examined further at some length, and through a misunderstanding of the question, gave some rather amusing and spicy answers, which caused a general laugh. She at once concluded the counsel was making her the butt of his ridicule and excitedly spoke out, "You try to make the biggest fool of me of any witness." The counsel assured her that she was entirely mistaken, but she persisted in it that he was trying "to make a fool of" her, and that she had been "made a bigger fool than any of the others," which so wrought upon her feelings that she fell to weeping hysterical,y and had to be dismissed from the stand. As she was passing the counsel's (Mr. Thompson's) chair, she said vehemently, through her tears, "You be de biggest fool who ever set in de Court House," an expression of opinion which was received with hearty applause, as much by the object of attack as the large crowd of spectators.]

MRS. SHUGART AND MARTIN—THEIR ALLEGED INTIMACY.

John M. Vinvoe, sworn.—Reside near the house occupied by Jacob Shugart at the time of his death, and on the same street. Am a teamster. The first day I noticed Joseph Martin at the house of Jacob Shugart was on the second night of the Horse Fair. I staid out quite late that night, and in going home passed my stable, which is on the southeast corner of my lot. My wagon, a covered one, stood in one corner of my stable. I noticed a man in the wagon. I passed on, but came back, and asked him what he was doing there. He said he wanted to sleep a little. I told him that was no place to sleep. He said it was good enough. I then went home. When I was up stairs, getting ready for bed, I stood by the window next to the street a few minutes, and I saw a woman come out of Shugart's house and go down to the stable. She was in there no time at all till she came out again and went back to the house. A few minutes after that I heard some one walking down my alley, and saw a person cross the street and go into the lot owned by Mrs. Kline. He walked along the fence and went into the same stable the woman came out. He came out, after a while, and went up into Mr. Shugart's house and into the front room. I then went to bed and saw no more. It was about ten o'clock; there was a light in Shugart's house. I wakened up about eleven o'clock and went to the same window and saw the same man coming out of Shugart's house, and walk on to Mr. John Stokes' house and went in. There was a light in Stokes' house. It was Joseph Martin. He had a son, I was told, boarding at Stokes'. The next Saturday night I was coming home again, with Mr. Manning, and when we passed the wagon, I related the circumstance I had seen the night of the fair. When I went to my bedroom, I heard voices on the street below and looked out. Saw about half a dozen men standing together and talking in German. I heard one say he could prove what he said. They then started and in a short time afterwards I saw Joseph Martin come down the alley and along the fence to the stable, the same one he had been in the night before. He was in but a few minutes when Mrs. Shugart come out of her house and went into the same stable. I went down stairs into my lot and got some coal and threw against the stable where they were. I then went back into the house and went to the same window, and in a few minutes saw Mrs. Shugart come out and go into her house. That's all I saw that time. The next I saw was on the fifteenth of October. We had a torchlight procession that night. After the procession had disbanded I went home, and in going down the alley from the court house towards my house, I noticed a man following me. This was pretty late at night. This was Joseph Martin. He come after me until I lost him in the darkness. He was going towards the same place I had seen him before. He walked very slow, and would stop every few steps. I saw nothing more that night.

No cross-examination.

Mrs. Annie Stokes, sworn—Live on Washington street, Butler, and neighbor to Mrs. Shugart; have lived there sixteen years. Joseph Martin had a son, John, boarding at our house and learning his trade with my husband. Martin was often in our house, and slept with his son. One Sunday I staid at home from church and Martin came in. He told me he had come from Jacob Shugart. This was about a couple of weeks before the 4th of July. I had a conversation with Martin.

Defense objected to having this conversation repeated and asked that the Commonwealth state their proposition in writing. They objected because Martin was not on trial, or a witness, and hearsay evidence could not be taken.

Mr. McCandless presented the proposition in writing, stating that "the Commonwealth proposed to ask the witness on the stand whether Joseph Martin, the accessory before the fact, told the witness in July, before the death of Jacob Shugart, that Mrs. Shugart told him she would like to have him (Martin); she liked him better than Shugart for a man; that she said she hoped Shugart would die soon; she hated him; she hated the Shugarts—for the purpose of showing a motive for the commission of the crime, and to show the state of feeling existing in the mind of the accused toward the deceased, and want of affection in the prisoner toward her husband, deceased."

Mr. Thompson, for the defense, was about preparing an objection, when the Court suggested that the offer, for the present, be withdrawn. It was not evidence at this stage of the case. It was proper to produce evidence of a motive for the commission of the crime, but it must be by competent evidence. The mere fact that Martin is included in the same indictment is not sufficient to warrant his declarations, in the absence of Mrs. Shugart, being received, unless evidence going to show a conspiracy or confederation between them is before the Court. When such evidence was produced, the offer might come in.

Mr. McCandless accordingly withdrew the offer, as suggested, and the testimony was resumed.

Mrs. Shugart often came down to my house, and one Saturday evening Mr. Martin came down. He was there about half an hour; it was about eight o'clock when Mrs. Shugart came in; they talked together about half an hour. When he started to go home Mrs. Shugart said "If you go, I'll stay awhile." He went, and she stayed about three or four minutes longer. Then she went out, and I went to the door with her. It was quite dark. I stood there awhile, when I heard her calling Mr. Martin, and he answered. I opened my gate then and went out. I saw two men coming, when I went in again. The men stopped at my gate, and I recognized them as John Martin and Joe Fedder. John asked me if that was his father and Mrs Shugart. He then went back after them. In my house they had talked with me, and together. Martin had a letter from Germany, and they talked about that. It was a good while before Shugart's death. They would often meet this way at my house, about three or four times in a week, generally in the evening. They usually went away separately. I knew they met again when they went away. Martin at this time was sleeping at Mr. Fisher's, in the north end of town. They didn't speak anything wrong in our house. They conversed together in a very nice manner. Mrs. Shugart had a whistle, which she used as a signal to meet Joseph Martin. One time John Martin and I were watching, when we saw Martin go into the stable. Mrs. Shugart then came out on her back porch and whistled. She went in, came out again, and went down to the stable. Martin then came back to the house with her; they went into the house quietly. He didn't come back to our house that night. I heard this whistle many times. I never talked to Martin as to what he thought of Mrs. Shugart. I often teased him about Mrs. Shugart.

I was at Shugart's the day he died. He was dead and was not yet laid out. I said to Mrs. Shugart, "What ails your man, he died so quick." She said he had died from a rupture. After that she said he had eaten a radish and that killed him, perhaps. She then told me she had given him whisky and pepper; at first didn't like to give it; after he had it down he got much worse, and drank one glass of water after another. She didn't expect him to die so soon.

The witness was not cross-examined.

Court now adjourned till Wednesday morning.

The Truth in a Nut Shell.

It is a very hard matter to decide from the many conflicting statements that from time to time appear in the daily papers regarding the number of sewing machines sold in this community. Some enterprising agents assert that they sell double the number sold by their rivals, while others make more modest assertions. In order to help our readers arrive at the truth, as the popularity of a machine is the best evidence of its superiority, we would state, as all business men know, that each agent is compelled by law to make a return under oath of his yearly gross sales. From the 1st day of April, 1868, to the 31st day of March, 1869, as we learn from official sources, these returns were made as follows:

Weed Sewing Machine,	112 Grant street	$38,926.07
Singer " "	Sixth and Penn	35,500 00
Howe " "	4 Sixth street	25,000 00
Grover & Baker "	Fifth avenue	24,600.00
Empire and Wilcox & Gibbs,	49 Sixth st	18,600 00
American Buttonhole Company		no return

In considering these figures, it must be remembered that the Weed agency had not the advantage of a good office location, being on Grant street, under the shadow of the Cathedral, where purchasers had to seek it out. The others had better opportunities for attracting trade, so far as business places were concerned, and all had larger extent of territory than the Weed, which is confined to Western Pennsylvania alone, and does not take in Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia. With their new and elegant rooms at 116 Market street, the sales of the Weed are running doubly as large as what they were on Grant street. Figures won't lie and the reader can draw his own inference. It is a settled fact that the Weed machine gives decided satisfaction in every family where used, is the simplest in construction, easiest to work, most lasting and durable and adapted to a wider range of work than any of its rivals.

Coroner's Inquest.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest, yesterday, on the body of William F. Metzler, who died suddenly of heart disease in street car No. 46, on the Manchester Passenger Railway, about six o'clock Tuesday evening. It appears that as the car was passing along the street, he started on a run to overtake it, and succeeded, but had scarcely taken his seat before he fell on the floor of the car. He was picked up and carried to Mercer & Seitz's drug store, where he expired in a few moments afterwards. The body was then removed to Rodman's coffin rooms, on Ohio street, where it was identified yesterday morning by Mrs. Metzler, the widow of deceased. The jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease.

The Minstrels.

Notwithstanding the fact that the thermometer was considerably above zero last evening, away up in the nineties, the Opera House was filled with a large and fashionable audience to witness the excellent entertainment given by Duprez & Benedict's inimitable troupe. To-night there will be an entire change of programme, in which will be introduced "The Great National Peace Jubilee," a burlesque on the Boston Jubilee, performed by this troupe only. The Company is composed of fifteen star performers, some of whom are at the head of the profession, and, as a consequence, their entertainments are of a very superior character.

Lace Goods and Trimmings.

As lace goods and trimmings are articles in which the ladies are interested, we desire to call the attention of our many lady readers to the large and well selected stock of goods, including lace goods, trimmings, hosiery and gloves, at the old established house of W. W. Moorhead, No. 81 Market street. It is only necessary for them to visit the establishment, and examine the stock, whether they desire to purchase or not, to be convinced that the goods have been selected with great care, and especially for this market. Mr. Moorehead's long experience in the business enables him to purchase such goods as are required to suit the tastes of his numerous patrons. He keeps thoroughly posted in the eastern markets relative to the change of styles, &c., and is thereby enabled to present to his customers all the novelties as soon as presented in eastern cities.

Queensware.

Owing to the rapid increase in the demand for the excellent queensware, manufactured by S. M. Kier & Co., of his city, the firm, we are informed, have in contemplation the enlargement of their factory, so as to increase their capacity for manufacturing, in order to be able to supply the demand. They have on hand at their warerooms, No. 363 Liberty street, a large stock of queensware of every variety of style and pattern, equal, if not superior in point of elegance in finish, strength and durability, to the finest Liverpool iron stone, and as it is sold at a much lower rate than it is possible to purchase imported ware, dealers and others will find it to their advantage to call and examine the stock.

Pleasing Occurrence.

Quite an interesting affair occurred at the closing of the "Washington School," (Lawrenceville) yesterday. A sumptuous dinner was gotten by the lady teachers of the ward. The Directors of the ward, Prof. Luckey and a number of invited guests were present. On being summoned to the large and beautiful hall the Principal, Prof. R. H. Kelby, was called to the head of the table and presented with a magnificent reception chair by the lady teachers. The gentleman was taken by surprise, but replied in a neat and feeling speech. At times he became almost unmanned by [illegible] from the ladies. [illegible] made by Prof. Luckey and [illegible]. This speaks well for the "Washington" [illegible] district schools.
